BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA

IS prepared in the most scientific manner, by thorough educated Chemists and Druggists, who have had many years' experience. It is not a simple extract from one article, but is compounded of extracts from a number of Roots, Herbs, Barks, and Leaves, all of which are possessed of some particular virtue or power in curing the diseases that have their source in the blood. These herbs and these different vegetable extracts are combined in such a way as to retain, in its full strength, the special curative virtue possessed by each. The root of the Sarsaparilla plant, found in Honduras, is that which we use in this preparation; it is the kind which all medical men esteem most. About fifty per cent. of Bristol's Sarsaparilla consists of this concentrated extract, the remainder, as above stated, being composed of extracts from other powerful, cleansing and healing vegetable substances. It does not contain anything that is dangerous or injurious to health, and in this, as in nearly every other respect, is entirely different from all other preparations sold under the name of Sarsaparilla.

By having our own agents at the places where the various roots, drugs, herbs and plants, composing our medicines, are produced, we are enabled to exercise that constant care in selection which insures uniformity of excellence; and we spare no money and no effort to procure the best—and only the best—of every article entering into their composition; and it is with the most abiding confidence we say, to the sick of all nations and all countries, that in Bristol's Sarsaparilla you have a remedy more reliable than any before offered to you, and which will not disappoint you in the cure of

Salt Rheum, Tetter, Scald Head,
Nervous and General Debility,
Old Sores, Ulcers, Tumors,
Abscesses, Boils, Eruptions,
Scrofula, or King's Evil,
Female Derangements,
White Swellings,
Fever and Ague,
Chills and Fever, & Dumb Ague.

As a means of building up the constitution that has been broken down by the excessive use of Mercury, Iron, or other Minerals, our Sarsaparilla will be found most excellent, and can be administered with safety to the weakest patients. As a purifier of the blood and humors, in the Spring and early Summer, it will be found unfailing. It can be taken freely at all seasons, rainy or dry. For some of the above diseases, the use of the Sarsaparilla must be continued a considerable time, especially for those that are hereditary, or constitutional in their nature—such as Scrofula; but a faithful compliance with the directions will always relieve and mitigate, and in a great majority of cases will effect a complete cure. It will also be found, in all of the above diseases, that a cure will be greatly hastened by using our Bristol's Sugar-coated pills, in moderate doses, in connection with the Sarsaparilla; they carry off large quantities of morbific or diseased matter set free in the system by the Sarsaparilla, and in this way facilitate the return of normal functional operations.

MESSRS. D. S. KEMP & Co. have been urged to publish the following portions of letters regarding MELLIN'S EXTRACT FOR LIEBIG'S MILK.

They believe that medical opinion is undivided as to the excellence of the preparation. No cooking is required, the extract being simply added to the warm milk, in which it dissolves.

Extract from the letter of an Officer at Deesa.

" The Liebig's Milk has proved wonderfully efficacious, and " I fancy has had a good deal to do with saving a baby that " the Doctors could do nothing with. " * * * Recommend anybody who has a baby prematurely weaned and " that can keep nothing on its stomach, everything returning " undigested, to try Liebig's Milk and enemas of strong broth, " certain remedy."

From the letter of a Surgeon at Gorruckpore.

" The bottle I received from you lately has, after four days' " trial, caused a wonderful improvement in my child."

From the same, two months later.

" I take this opportunity of telling you that the Extract has " been of the greatest service to my child. She was fed on cows " and goats' milk with a little Corn Flour for six months, and " though she grew pretty well for three months, she then began " to have frequent and violent derangements of the stomach and " bowels, which entirely arrested her growth. Two months ago " I began to give her Liebig's Extract. The first dose of it " produced a complete revolution in her digestive system, and " she has continued to grow at the rate of ½ lb. per ten days ever " since, without the slightest symptom of Dyspepsia or Diarrhœa.

From the same, six months later.

" This food cannot be too highly estimated; I am certain that " it has saved my child's life. Last month, when we had none " for about three weeks, my child fell into the same Dyspeptic " condition as before she got the food at all, and within two days " after she got it, she was as well as ever. I am giving it at pre" sent to a patient aged 56, who was extremely ill, and had not " retained any food for fifteen days before I was called upon to " treat him. He has had no Dyspeptic symptoms since I began " to give him this food, and I rely on it chiefly for a cure. He " is a ... and cannot be fed with animal ... to " make a most valuable adjunct to my armory in such cases. " You can make any use of ... wonderful ... " Signed, ... M.D., Surgeon."

… is dull and unsatisfactory, as is usually the case when … are small and prices high,—two things that as a rule go hand in hand. One by one take the leading staples exported from this port, and examine the stocks held in London as compared with the stocks held in Calcutta, and a little reflection will show that if the rates were turned, prices would be lower in Calcutta, and high in London,—a state of things too uncommon by far. The same argument equally applies to America. Nowadays with London within six weeks of Calcutta, it seems quite unnecessary to hold such hefty stocks in London, and, strange to say, there are some Calcutta staples in the London Warehouses now, that if sent back again to this port, would realize better prices here than can be obtained for them there.

The Bombay Gazette.

MONDAY, JULY 1, 1872.

We have not given much attention of late to the condition of the Bombay Municipality, because, after the principles of reform had been once adopted, and certain necessary changes in the personnel of the executive effected, it seemed to us that more harm than good would be done by the interference of the press in the management of the ordinary business of administration. We do not consider it our duty, any more than it is the duty of the Bench of Justices, to take up the cause of every clerk who produces a big volume of testimonials to prove that the Municipality must be ruined if his pay is cut ten rupees a month. These outcries are raised whenever any reductions of establishments are put in force; and, as both the Government and the Bench resolved, towards the close of last year, to entrust the work of revision to Mr. Hope, it is clear that no settlement of any kind can be accomplished if the Justices and the newspapers now begin all over again the discussion as to the amount of pay that each person employed in the service of the Municipality ought to get. We regret very much, therefore, to see that Colonel Ballard proposes, at to-day's meeting of the Bench, to raise once more the question whether the Budget should not have been taken item by item, and to move that "the general motion by which "the reduction of the salaries of the Municipal "servants was effected ought not to have been "permitted." As a soldier, Colonel Ballard may be justified in refusing to know when he is beaten; but, obviously Municipal Government cannot be carried on, if, meeting after meeting, for months together, some Justice rises up to initiate a fresh debate on the Budget for the year. Colonel Ballard actually goes on to propose an entirely new Budget of his own, for the latter part of his motion is to this effect:—"That the Bench "consider a reduction of 15 per cent. is "the maximum which should be effected "in the salary of any individual during "the present year, and request the Municipal "Commissioner will carry out the wishes of the "Bench in this respect by the appropriation of "savings to this purpose, or in any way that it "can legally be effected." This might have been a very proper motion to bring forward six or three months ago as an instruction to guide Mr. Hope in the framing of his Budget; it might even have been introduced with propriety at any of the numerous meetings held to consider the details of that Budget; but, now that more than a month has elapsed since the Budget was passed, and the total amount of expenditure for the year fixed in accordance with the terms of Mr. Forbes's resolution as regard salaries and with other votes of the Bench, it would be intolerable that any Justice should have the power of re-opening the discussion on the Budget, or of proposing a new Budget of his own. Colonel Ballard was prevented from bringing forward last month a resolution similar to that which now stands in his name, through the adoption by the Bench of Mr. Marriott's legal opinion that the Justices, having once passed the Budget, were debarred by Act II. of 1865 from saying anything more about it. It must be observed, therefore, that Colonel Ballard now brings forward his motion, in disregard of an express resolution, passed by the Bench at the special meeting he himself and his friends called in June, to the effect that no more motions touching the Budget could be entertained. It appears to us, therefore, that the Bench must refuse to hear Colonel Ballard until this resolution has been reversed, and we leave it to the Colonel's good sense to decide if it be worth while to go on with this vain labour to undo what has been done.

Dr. Hewlett cannot be blamed for making a good fight for his pay; but, after the Bench has distinctly refused to continue his salary at the rate of Rs. 2,000 a month, it is not in very good taste for him to try to get back his former salary by means of a legal quibble. Whatever opinion counsel may … whether it would … salary by so much as … and though Mr. Latham, having only … fished reports to go by, … is a difficulty "that that resolution … days …" thinks the Justices … a mistake in "… "salaries for the different … tees who attended … well aware … the "Detailed … ment" for each branch of the Municipality separately. Mr. Hope would say—"Such-and-"such salaries are fixed at so much," stating the figures, "Mr. Forbes's resolution; I will now, with the permission "of the Bench, go on to propose votes on the "other items." If, therefore, any Justice had had the slightest doubt that the Bench meant to reduce the salary of the Health Officer to Rs. 1,200 a month, he would have mentioned the matter when the votes for the Health Department were under consideration. If we remember rightly, too, Mr. Hope revised the totals of each department to suit what he considered to be the intentions of the Bench; and, as these sums were submitted to and approved by the Justices, the reduction of the Health Officer's pay must have been sanctioned over and over again. In making these remarks, we are very far from wishing to underrate Dr. Hewlett's work. We could have wished the Government had promoted him to the place of Acting Municipal Commissioner when Mr. Hope went away, for he knows the work of the office thoroughly and has always done his duty conscientiously and with marked ability. Dr. … Mr. Peile has been removed from a post to which it was considered the peculiar glory of Sir Seymour Fitzgerald's reign to have appointed him, and reluctantly compelled to undertake the distasteful duties of Municipal Commissioner; while Dr. Hewlett, who would have made an excellent Commissioner, is now gazetted Surgeon to the Goculdass Tejpal hospital, an appointment which, as it involves the care of a hospital which is to contain 200 beds, ought certainly not to have been given to a medical man who for the last six years has had no practice in his profession. But, whatever may be said for or against these appointments, it seems to us undeniable both that Rs. 1,200 a month is a sufficient salary for the Health Officer of Bombay and that, when this rate of pay has been definitely fixed by the Bench of Justices in the annual Budget, no fresh application on the subject ought to be listened to.

Among the more important matters to be discussed at to-day's meeting is the Auditors' Report on the accounts of 1871. Mr. G. R. Wilson and Mr. A. F. Moos draw the attention of the Bench to the fact that the Accountant General is now charging compound interest on the loans granted to the Municipality by the Government, and that at the rates of repayment fixed by Mr. Lushington the town will pay fully a lac of rupees more than it ought to pay in return for money lent at what was understood to be simple interest at five per cent. This result of an independent audit shows, we think, what a mistake it would be for the Municipality to put its trust entirely in the Accountant General. The more the Bench takes to itself the management of its own affairs, instead of relying on Government officials, the better will it be for the town. The best thing that has been done for Bombay since the markets were built is the creation of the new Toolsee reservoir, to reinforce and perfect the water supply of Bombay; and this work, which settles the controversies of years in a simple and inexpensive way, is not the fruit of the original genius of any Cæsar, it was resolved upon by the Justices themselves during the interregnum when Bombay had no Municipal Commissioner.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The Times of India contradicts the statement made by "A Merchant" in a letter to this paper that Lord Mayo was opposed to the construction of the Carwar line. Our contemporary has, however, himself been misinformed. It is well known that Lord Mayo came out here possessed with a perfect passion for publicworks …; but his experience of the … disease went a long way … disease, so far as the … concerned; and he de… give his sanction to … S. Fitzgerald and Colonel … the merits of other … utterly, in fact, Lord Mayo looked upon … forward by Sir Seymour and Colonel … with the same distrust with which a … business regards the bubble schemes of speculators on the Stock Exchange. It was feared that advantage would be taken of the interval between Lord Mayo's death and the installation of a new Viceroy to get the Supreme Government to recognize the necessity for the immediate construction of the Carwar line, and it would be interesting to know how the thing was "worked."

It was announced in last week's Government Gazette that Dr. Cook had been appointed Professor of Hygiene in the Grant Medical College. We know of no objection to Dr. Cook, unless it be one that he secretly applied for the appointment of a colleague, for Dr. Cook is already in possession of one chair; neither do we know of much in his favour, as far as regards the present appointment. But that Dr. Sidney Smith, the acting Professor of Hygiene, should have been superseded in this summary way, after having delivered one complete course of lectures and began his second course this session, is utterly incomprehensible. It is indeed a downright act of injustice to the gentleman who has officiated for many months during the absence of Dr. Eccles; and than whom, we have reason to believe, there is no professor more popular with the students of the college. For an acting incumbent to be summarily dismissed, for no misconduct, without the slightest private intimation till the name of his successor appears in the Government Gazette, is an example of discourtesy unparalleled in the annals of any collegiate institution with which we are acquainted. So far from any intimation having been given to the acting Professor of Hygiene of any possible change, he was not even informed of Dr. Eccles' resignation, and, moreover, was desired to add to, or embody in his present course, several lectures on a subject with which we know our great medical men in England are all thoroughly conversant, viz., meteorology! This was agreed to, though, as we look at it, it is a subject quite foreign to hygiene proper, and has so little directly to do with physic that it does not form part of the curriculum at any of our English medical schools, except the supplementary one at Netley. We hear that Dr. Cook is great on barometers, thermometers, pluviometers, ozonometers, and all the other meters, and this may have had something to do with his appointment; but nothing can justify the dirty way in which the Acting Professor has been turned out of a chair which he has filled with great satisfaction to the students, and in the possession of which he ought naturally to continue en permanence, on the resignation of Dr. Eccles. There may, however, be a reason for the change which just occurs to us. The Acting Professor is an "outsider;" he is not a service man, and the self-complacent feeling that—to pervert Scripture—there can be nothing good outside of Nazareth, is deeply rooted in the breasts of dispensers of patronage in all departments. We have a strong impression that when Grant Medical College was recognized by the English examining boards, as affording the requisite medical education prior to admission to examination, it was laid down by these boards as a sine qua non, that the staff of the college should be composed both of civilian and of military medical officers. Now, however, by this last Government edict the civil element is extinct, and the college has practically become a perfect specimen of medico-military despotism.

Our Simla correspondent writes—"You may announce to the public of Bombay that it is almost a certainty that Government comes to Simla again next year. A rumour which I consider to be a 'shave' is going about that Simla is actually to be the summer and winter abode of all the offices. If true, what a lamentation and uproar in Colingah, what a dismay among the Bengali Baboos and Scotchmen of India, and what a lift for Simla house-owners, shopkeepers, and astrologers! The following is Dr. Kirk's report to the Government of Bombay regarding the return of Mr. Stanley from Unyanyembe and the latest intelligence received at Zanzibar concerning Dr. Livingstone. Fortunately we do not entirely depend upon Dr. Kirk's official reports for news from Zanzibar, for the following is but a poor communication when we know from our own correspondence published some days ago how much Dr. Kirk might have reported:—"On receipt of letters informing us that Dr. Livingstone was awaiting at Unyanyembe thirty days' journey distant from Zanzibar, a … of men to be sent by Mr. Stanley and without any intention of leaving Africa for the present, Lieutenant Dawson and the other members of the Search Expedition, including Dr. Livingstone's son, decided that it was no longer necessary or advisable to proceed, the Expedition has therefore returned to Europe. Nothing whatever is known here of the results of Dr. Livingstone's travels or how he intends devoting the next two years, but full particulars will appear in the columns of the New York papers, Mr. Stanley, the American correspondent, having secured Dr. Livingstone's journals, &c. In Dr. Livingstone's official correspondence with Zanzibar no mention whatever is made of his travels. His Highness sends a body of native troops, chiefly Beloochees, to assist in attacking the people of Unyanyembe, who are at war with the Arabs. The expenses of this expedition will be defrayed by an increased ivory tax. Further injury has been done since the hurricane of the 15th April by the heavy rains and winds that have occurred lately."

THE COTTON TRADE OF BOMBAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—In all the controversy going on at present in regard to the Carwar Railway scheme, I have not yet heard any opinion expressed as to the feasibility or not of Government just now becoming surety for a Railway … wrong … If the … point … if not its cotton trade … losing … some years … any event, if the South … of cotton … trade … demand, and it certainly … money … build … railway … basis of business. As for Carwar railway or … much of a port take it that, in view … cotton growing States, no port … upon the stage for its prosperity … In drawing these few remarks to a close I … Bombay ere the American war … (and I make bold to say it was … place then, than now), during the war … body made their fortunes … the war closed … people ruined … liquidating and … What is our …

I ask the European cotton merchant …—Have you made money this season? Are telegrams at hand this morning quoting Fair Dhollera at 7⅜d. cheering? You took up a lot of steamers at fair rates to carry your cotton, and when they came to hand your Bills of Lading were filled in at much lower rates and you had to stump up the little difference. How about that?

I ask the native merchants now, at the close of the Fair Season—How about your business? Has it been prosperous? Do you feel easy about account sales yet to come?

I ask the ordinary shop-keeper—How about your business? Do you find people have much money to spend? Does Bombay appear to you to be prospering?

I ask the Parsee and native clerks (a host in themselves)—How are you getting on? Good pay—plenty to do?

I ask the inhabitants of Bombay too generally—Does it appear to you as though we were thriving?

We are not thriving in this city, and it does not seem at all likely to me that we ever shall thrive again so long as we allow cotton … made a speciality of.

Have we not the right as a community to hope that Government will not at present sanction any … railway that must depend upon the cotton interest in a great measure for its prosperity?

THE CARWAR RAILWAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—"Prospice," the inspired prophet of the Times of India, was sent to curse the enemies of the Carwar railway, and lo! he has blessed them altogether. If the opponents of the Carwar line were in want of arguments to support their objections, then "Prospice" has supplied them in the richest abundance. Everything that "Prospice" claims for the country and the trade between Carwar and Dharwar may be more justly claimed for the country between Dharwar and Poona. … are the commercial points upon which "Prospice" lays much stress. Does he mean that the wider area, the more populous districts, the better cultivated provinces of the country between Deccan and Dharwar have no grain-growing capabilities, no traffic in salt, no land revenue? Does he suppose that the traffic on the mileage rate would not be greater in a well-peopled, well-irrigated, well-cultured country, than in a country that would require to draw its population from other districts and newly establish its agriculture? And what does "Prospice" mean when he says (leaning on Colonel Anderson) that the jungle ryots living within railway reach of the Carwar line can increase their agricultural produce without incurring any outlay? Apart from the absurdity of the statement—which cannot mean that the extra produce can be raised without extra labour—the fact admits of no dispute that, if the Carwar and the Deccan junction line were both executed, the acres within railway reach of the Deccan line would produce infinitely more than the acres near the Carwar line, and for the best of all reasons, viz., that the land is ready and the agricultural capital in existence in the former country, which is not the case in the latter. I say that, acre for acre, the country around the Deccan line is in a far more advanced agricultural condition than is the country around the Carwar line; and further, that the outlay of the ryots in the former country would be vastly less than it would be in the latter, so that the argument of "Prospice" about the ryots' outlay, in the event of a railway being constructed, is altogether against the line which he proposes. I think this question of agricultural produce and the outlay of the ryots contain the gist and marrow of the matter. A preferential railway is required for purposes of trade, for preventing famine and for political purposes, and this ugly little Carwar line is to be selected to fulfil these wants. The Chamber of Commerce would be mad to recommend any such undertaking; nay, they would be mad not to urge the claims of a district of country of vastly greater area, population, and wealth. The whole body of Bombay merchants want increased trade in exports and increased trade in imports. There are no exports from those districts which surround the finest rivers in Western India, because, and only because, there are no roads, no bridged rivers, no railways. Their agricultural capabilities are almost extinguished. A fact of this kind is sufficient to startle the most unobservant of men and it will surely stimulate enquiry. Call together the revenue patels of the districts to … and entice them to tell the story of their wrongs. These districts exist only for themselves, and exist in a state of agricultural hybernation out of which nothing can draw them except roads and railways. For shame on the indifference that has been exhibited towards the millions of whom I speak! Even the teak timber of these provinces finds no market that can yield a profit. Again I say shame on the neglect which has kept down produce, limited the trade in salt to a quantity that is incommensurate with health, and prevented the increase of the land revenue! And if there are no exports how can there be imports?

Let me see from the speeches of the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce that the merchants of Bombay—or some of them—possess a practical acquaintance with the Mofussil districts of my part of the country. It is this practical knowledge which can alone be depended upon for making agricultural or railway comparisons. The traveller has been abroad I know, and it has fallen to my lot to have met some of them. Let them recount their experience. If the Carwar railway advocates count upon an extension of produce to make that line pay, then the advocates of the other line may unhesitatingly count their chickens in the same way.

I do not feel myself called to comment upon the following passage from the letter of "Prospice":—

"It seems, therefore, … quixotic crusade of your contemporary … endeavour, on a few misapplied statistics and the crude ideas of two or three merchants who have little or no interest in the shipment of Dharwar Cotton, to attempt to stop the great public work."

I will merely say that this extract from the pen of the inspired one exposes pretty clearly the faith of the writer and turns his premeditated curse into a blessing upon his opponents.

"Prospice" runs in blinkers, and the Times of India is his Jehu, or as some of my friends here have it, the Times of India runs in blinkers and "Prospice" is his Jehu.
